

ACU™ CLASS

Description

Centripital conducts the ACU™ Class to teach fellow hospital professionals how much more effective we can be when organized as high-functioning, patient-centered teams. The ACU™ Class is a 3-hour session conducted by an experienced physician and nurse team to teach the structure, processes, and outcomes of the ACU™ care model and its central feature, Structured Interdisciplinary Bedside Rounds.

Learning Objectives

1. Describe the 4 features of an Accountable Care Unit
2. Describe the 4 features of Structured Interdisciplinary Bedside Rounds and list additional complementary nursing and physician processes
3. Describe the influence of the ACU™ care model on outcomes

Who Should Attend

The class is intended for every professional who will make a daily or vital contribution to the ACU™ care model: physicians, nurses, patient care technicians, unit clerks, and allied health professionals; executive leaders, quality and safety officers, and performance improvement personnel; specialty directors, nurse unit managers, physician medical directors; and directors of education and training programs.

CME and CNE credits can be earned through the class.
